

Tuition Assistance Program

Crude by Rail Emergency Response Training

Course: ASP014

Date: Spring School, March 1-6, 2020

TEXAS A&M ENGINEERING

EXTENSION SERVICE

Course Overview

This course provides skills and knowledge to emergency responders who will respond to a flammable liquid fire involving railcars. This course is appropriate for emergency responder personnel, including:

- Volunteer firefighters
- Municipal firefighters
- Industrial firefighters
- Railroad emergency responders

Topics

- U.S. Railroad's role in crude oil distribution
- Crude oil properties and equipment
- Flammable liquid fire fighting equipment
- Hazard recognition
- Tactical response considerations

Location

TEEX Brayton Fire Training Field in College Station, TX

Class Size

Class size is limited to the first 20 students

Tuition Cost

$1,700.00*

*Tuition assistance may be available if you live in a qualifying county or department.

Tuition Assistance

Burlington Northern Santa Fe Railway (BNSF) and Union Pacific (UP) are offering tuition assistance to firefighters who are likely to respond to a rail emergency in specified counties.

For Texas Departments: If your department is HB 2604 or TIFMAS eligible, you must seek this funding first before applying for Tuition Assistance. Please contact the Texas Forest Service for more information on funding.

Payment Options	Opt. 1	Opt. 2	Opt. 3	Opt. 4
Paid by State Funding from HB 2604 or TIFMAS (if eligible)	$645	$0	$645	$0
Paid by BNSF/UP Tuition Assistance (if eligible)	$1,055	$1,055	$0	$0
Paid by Student at time of Registration	$0	$645	$1,055	$1,700
Total Cost of Class	$1,700

Register

For more details or to register, contact Melba Lopez at 866-878-8900 or email annualschool@teex.tamu.edu

